

Every Lawsuit Has a Price Tag

Smart Reform Protects Family Budgets and Fuels Ohio's Momentum

Did You Know?

Ohio families pay $2,583 per household in a hidden "Tort Tax" – the built-in cost of excessive litigation and lawsuit abuse that drives up prices on everyday goods and services.

Rolling back reform makes that burden heavier. Strengthening smart tort reform can drive it down – saving money for families and keeping Ohio affordable.

Ohio's economic strength is no accident – it's the result of years of deliberate, balanced policymaking that allows businesses to grow and families to thrive. A fair and predictable judicial system has been central to that success, giving employers the confidence to invest and communities the stability to prosper.

Now is the time to capitalize on Ohio's economic edge, not put it at risk. Strengthening Ohio's proven tort reforms will keep our economy competitive, control costs for families and businesses, and send a clear message that the Buckeye State is committed to fairness, growth, and opportunity.

Support HB 105/SB 10

HB 105/SB 10 Make Needed Reforms to Third-Party Litigation Funding (TPLF), Requiring Accountability and Transparency for Ohioans

TPLF allows outside investors - including foreign entities - to fund lawsuits in exchange for a share in the financial outcome. While originally intended to help those without the means to afford legal action, this industry has morphed into a profit-driven enterprise that puts our courts, economy, and national interests at risk.

A Vote For HB 105/SB 10 Will:

Defend National Interests: Ban agreements with foreign entities that may threaten U.S. business or security.

Ensure Transparency: Require disclosure of funding agreements to level the legal playing field.

Protect Consumers: Establish contract standards to prevent predatory lending practices.

Preserve Judicial Integrity: Prohibit funders from influencing decisions about legal strategy or settlement.

Why It Matters:

Ohio families, workers, and businesses deserve a justice system that is fair, transparent, and focused on justice - not profits. Without reform, unchecked TPLF will continue to drive up costs, delay justice, and compromise our courts.

While many economic pressures are beyond our control, maintaining a stable, predictable legal climate is not.

Stand with Ohioans for fair, responsible tort reform that keeps the Buckeye State affordable and competitive.
